A SUMMARY OF HOUSE BILL 4064 AS INTRODUCED 2-5-91

The bill would amend the Revised Judicature Act to provide for writ of garnishment to remain effective for up to six months. The garnishment would be dissolved sooner if the debt (including interest and costs) was paid or if a change in the debtor's financial condition warranted dissolution. In the latter case, the debtor would have the burden of providing the change in financial condition to the court. The bill would apply to procedures in both circuit and district court, including small claims court.
