RENAME I-275 AFTER VETS

House Bill 5557 as passed by the House
Second Analysis (4-12-96)

Sponsor: Rep. Gerald Law
Committee: Transportation

THE APPARENT PROBLEM:

The Congressionally chartered organization known as the Disabled American Veterans (DAV) celebrates 75 years of service this year. This national group serves all veterans, whether or not they are members, and contributes to the well-being of the communities in which its local chapters are located. For example, Chapter 114 of the DAV, located within the City of Livonia, has approximately 1,500 members and will celebrate its fortieth anniversary next year. The DAV local chapters help veterans and their spouses and children file for benefits, provide social and recreational opportunities for veterans and their families, and serve the broader community by offering similar services for senior citizens and disabled children. To recognize their patriotism and service to the nation, this state, and their community, some have proposed renaming a section of Interstate-275 as the Disabled American Veterans Memorial Highway.

THE CONTENT OF THE BILL:

The bill would rename Interstate-275 north of the Livonia intersection of I-275 and I-96 as the "Disabled American Veterans Memorial Highway," and would direct the Department of Transportation to have suitable highway markers erected along the freeway displaying its new name. (Note: SCR 307 of 1978 previously named the portion of I-275 extending from I-96 in Livonia south to I-75 in Monroe County as the Philip A. Hart Memorial Highway.)

BACKGROUND INFORMATION:

The bill is similar to House Bill 4725 of the current session, which passed both the House and the Senate but was vetoed by the governor. That bill proposed to rename the portion of I-275 running through Livonia as the "Disabled American Veterans of Livonia Memorial Highway" in recognition of the Livonia DAV chapter's upcoming fortieth anniversary. Though acknowledging the honor and distinction with which members of the DAV have served both the state of Michigan and the country, the governor vetoed the bill in part because a state highway, M-121 (Bristol Road in Genesee County), had previously been designated as the "Disabled American Veterans' Highway" and identified as such by erecting several signs. (Note: The veto message incorrectly identified the highway as "M-21".) Further, where the bill would have named a state highway for a local organization, the veto message stated that designations and tributes for local chapters of state organizations would be more appropriately made at the local level.

FISCAL IMPLICATIONS:

The Department of Transportation says it would cost the department approximately $1,000 to have two signs erected indicating the name proposed by the bill. (4-12-96)

ARGUMENTS:

For:

The bill would recognize the work of the Disabled American Veterans in serving the needs of veterans, their families, and the broader community by renaming the portion of I-275 which runs north of I-96 in Livonia as the Disabled American Veterans Memorial Highway. The DAV was chartered by Congress over 75 years ago, after the end of World War I. Renaming highways after veterans organizations has become an accepted form of tribute to them in recent years (a total of sixteen highways in Michigan have been named in honor of veterans either by resolution or public act), and the bill would follow in that tradition by renaming the northern section of I-275 after the DAV.

Against:

If a state highway has already been named in honor of the DAV, to name another highway with the same name would be confusing. Plus, a large section of I-275 is already named in honor of the late Sen. Philip Hart. The bill could inadvertently result in confusion to drivers traveling in the eastern part of the state.

Response:

Though M-121 had been designated as the Disabled American Veteran's Highway, the highway recently reverted to county jurisdiction and is no longer a state trunkline, leaving a question as to whether the DAV

Highway signs are still posted. Therefore, there would not be two state highways with the same designation. Further, since the previous resolution only specified that the portion of I-275 extending south of I-96 in Livonia to I-75 in Monroe County be named after Sen. Hart and the bill would rename the portion extending north of the I-96 intersection, there should be no confusion for drivers nor would there be a detraction from the honor previously bestowed on Sen. Hart.

Against:

The Federal Highway Administration historically has discouraged the use of names in addition to numbered designations along interstate freeways, as the use of both can confuse motorists traveling at high speeds.

POSITIONS:

The Department of Transportation does not oppose the bill. (4-12 -96)
