House Bill 4714 (as reported without amendment)
Sponsor: Representative Andrew Richner
House Committee: Criminal Law and Corrections
Senate Committee: Judiciary

CONTENT

The bill would amend the Department of Corrections law to provide that, if a parole order contained a condition intended to protect one or more named persons, the Department would have to enter those provisions of the parole order into the Corrections Management Information System (CMIS), accessible by the Law Enforcement Information Network (LEIN). If the parole board revoked such a parole order, the Department would have to remove the provisions of that parole order from the CMIS within three business days.

FISCAL IMPACT

The bill would have an indeterminate fiscal impact on State government.

The inclusion of additional parole conditions into the Corrections Management Information System or the removal of the information upon revocation of a condition of parole would not require additional personnel. For fiscal year 1999-2000, the Legislature has appropriated 85.5 FTE positions and $9.3 million for planning, research, and information systems in the Department of Corrections.
