Senate Bill 545 would amend the revised Judicature Act of 1961, specifically section 302, by removing the county names which constitute the four judicial districts. The bill adds a new section requiring the Secretary of State to prepare a map by each district showing the counties constituting that district. The judicial district is drawn based on county lines. The map is to be conveyed to the legislature and governor.

There is little to no fiscal impact to the state or local governments by this bill.
