SUMMARY:

House Bill 4566 would create a new act to prohibit the state, except as otherwise required by law, from entering into, amending, extending, or renewing a confidentiality or nondisclosure agreement with an individual who holds an elective or appointive state office.

FISCAL IMPACT:

House Bill 4566 could result in annual savings for state departments and agencies by prohibiting confidentiality or nondisclosure agreements for appointed or elected officials that may include severance payments. Severance payments to elected or appointed state officials have been made infrequently and irregularly in the past and can vary significantly in amount. Severance payments, in some circumstances, can cover almost a year's worth of salary, or over $150,000, and are supported through General Fund/General Purpose revenue.
