Rep. Joseph G. Pavlov, from the 64th District, offered the following invocation:

“Dear Wonderful Loving Heavenly Mystery,

Today we come to thank You. We thank You for the abundance of blessings and graces that You bestow on us each day that we pay little attention to. Thank You also for the pesky trials and tribulations we endure that actually make us stronger and more resilient helping us become the leaders You have destined us to be. Thanks also for this amazing universe with our little earth as our temporary home with all its special and wonderful attributes that can be discovered continually. We live and move and have our being here with the mystery of life You have so miraculously created from dust. We want to thank You for the human mind which is the most phenomenal mechanism ever to appear on the face of the Earth. But most of all, we want to deeply thank You for the sacrifice You made by sending us Your son, Jesus Christ, as a model of how we should live our lives. Because with that we can become worthy to spend all eternity in heaven with You after hearing ‘Well done good and faithful servant.’”

Rep. Posthumus moved that Rep. Whitsett be excused from today’s session.
The motion prevailed.

Motions and Resolutions

Reps. Woolford, Robinson, Hoadley, DeBoyer, Maddock, Alexander and Fox offered the following resolution:

House Resolution No. 126.

A resolution to urge the United States Armed Forces to expand the use of medical waivers for recruits with food allergies, including allergies to peanuts.

Whereas, The United States Department of Defense has established medical qualifications for prospective recruits to ensure that those who are appointed, enlisted, or inducted into military service are fit for duty. These standards are designed to exclude those whose conditions would cause them to lose excessive time from duty for treatment or hospitalization, as well as screen out applicants who would not be capable of performing their duties without aggravating existing conditions. Under Department of Defense Instruction 6130.03, Section 6.23, one disqualifying condition is a “[h]istory of acute allergic reaction to fish, crustaceans, shellfish, peanuts, or tree nuts including the presence of a food-specific immunoglobulin E antibody if accompanied by a correlating clinical history.” However, this Instruction also allows medical waivers to be granted on a case-by-case basis; and

Whereas, The United States Armed Forces should expand the use of medical waivers to allow more individuals with food allergies to serve our country. Our military is capable of accommodating dietary restrictions, as demonstrated by the availability of Kosher and Halal rations and policies allowing commanding officers to approve diet-related religious accommodations. Furthermore, not all careers in the Armed Forces place servicemembers in the position of relying on rations or other food provided by the military, meaning these individuals may need less accommodation; and

Whereas, The United States Air Force is already taking these factors into account and expanding access to medical waivers for those with food allergies. In December 2024, the Air Force announced that individuals with a documented history of food allergies, provided there has been no anaphylaxis or serious systemic reaction, will now qualify for a medical waiver. Individuals granted these waivers will be restricted in which careers they can pursue and where they can be assigned, to ensure that they are not unduly placed at risk. This new policy is a reasonable and logical way of balancing medical standards and recruitment needs, and it removes barriers for many who are willing and able to serve; and

Whereas, Many adults in the United States have food allergies. The National Center for Health Statistics estimated that, as of 2021, 6.6 percent of adults aged 18 to 44 have a diagnosed food allergy, and a study conducted between 2015 and 2016 estimated that approximately 1.8 percent of U.S. adults have a peanut allergy, specifically. Applying these figures to current population data, one can estimate that Michigan is home to nearly 500,000 adults with a food allergy, including over 140,000 adults with a peanut allergy. Opening up medical waivers to these individuals would increase the pool of potential applicants for military service; and

Whereas, Expanding the availability of medical waivers for food allergies could also help address the recruiting crisis in the United States military. On multiple occasions over the past few years, branches of the Armed Forces have failed to meet their recruitment goals. The ongoing struggle to sustain our fighting force is evidence that there is a substantial need to expand the pool of eligible applicants to guarantee the safety of our nation; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives, That we urge the United States Armed Forces to expand the use of medical waivers for recruits with food allergies, including allergies to peanuts; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the United States Secretary of Defense.

The resolution was referred to Committee on Government Operations.

House Resolution No. 127.

A resolution urging the United States Department of Labor to reverse its decision to pause operations at Job Corps centers across the country and specifically in Detroit.

Whereas, The Job Corps is a federally funded residential career training program that has been around for more than 60 years, helping disadvantaged young people ages 16 to 24 to finish high school and obtain gainful employment. Established in 1964 as part of President Lyndon B. Johnson’s War on Poverty, Job Corps has been one of the most successful federal workforce development programs in our nation’s history. For over six decades, it has prepared millions of young Americans—particularly those from low-income or disconnected backgrounds—for careers that offer economic stability and upward mobility; and

Whereas, Nationwide, about 25,000 youths are currently enrolled across 99 contract-operated Job Corps centers. The most recent detailed analysis of Job Corps participation from 2023 showed that 760 students from Michigan were enrolled in the program, with 321 in Detroit, 231 in Flint, and 208 in Grand Rapids; and

Whereas, Throughout Job Corps' history, disadvantaged youth in Michigan have been given a second chance at becoming productive citizens through training programs in healthcare, construction, and technology. The Detroit Job Corps Center, specifically, has also provided wraparound services, including mental health support and housing, ensuring that young Detroiters have the resources they need to succeed; and

Whereas, On May 29th, the United States Department of Labor announced that all operations at Job Corps locations would pause by June 30, 2025. Despite being labeled merely as a "phased pause in operations," Job Corps participants across Michigan were reportedly instructed to leave centers immediately. For example, on May 30, just one day after the announced pause, all 217 program participants living at the Detroit Job Corps Center were reportedly told that it was their last day at the center and that they would have to make arrangements to leave immediately. The youth were given garbage bags to collect all of their belongings and were walked out of the building; and

Whereas, The sudden, rash decision to dismantle this lifeline to employment and empowerment for Detroit youth is tragic and miscalculated. At this time, the disruption and shutting down of the Detroit Job Corps Center have reportedly already thrust at least six of the 217 youth into homelessness, forcing them into various shelters around the city; and

Whereas, Defunding the Job Corps program unravels decades of investment in both our country's future and in the futures of the people who are committed to building it. The consequences of this decision will be long-lasting; not only for the youth it serves, but for greater Detroit and the surrounding communities that rely on their skills and contributions; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives, That we urge the United States Department of Labor to reverse its decision to pause operations at Job Corps centers across the country and specifically in Detroit; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the Secretary of the United States Department of Labor.

The resolution was referred to Committee on Government Operations.

Reps. Schriver, Maddock, Pavlov, Wortz, DeSana, DeBoyer, Woolford, Fox, BeGole, Frisbie, Cavitt and Jaime Greene offered the following resolution:

House Resolution No. 128.

A resolution to encourage county sheriffs and local law enforcement agencies throughout the state of Michigan to enter into 287(g) agreements with U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement to enhance immigration enforcement and public safety.

Whereas, The 287(g) program, authorized under section 287(g) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, permits the U.S. Department of Homeland Security and its subagency, U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE), to enter into agreements with state and local law enforcement agencies, allowing designated officers to perform federal immigration law enforcement functions under the supervision of ICE. Such functions include identifying and processing removable aliens who have been arrested, enforcing limited immigration authority during routine police duties, and serving and executing administrative warrants on aliens in jail; and

Whereas, The unlawful entry or reentry of an alien into the United States, including entry outside of authorized ports, constitutes a federal crime under title 8, sections 1325 and 1326 of the United States Code, and the federal government has a duty to identify, detain, and remove individuals who violate these laws. The federal government can more easily fulfill these obligations by partnering with local law enforcement agencies to advance their common interest in combatting crime; and

Whereas, Local participation in the 287(g) program increases cooperation between federal and local authorities, ensuring that individuals who are unlawfully present in the United States and who are arrested for criminal offenses can be more easily identified, detained, and processed for removal in a coordinated manner. This increased cooperation not only enables more efficient processes but also enhances public safety. By working with local law enforcement, the federal government is able to prioritize the removal of criminal aliens and gang members, particularly those who pose a threat to Michigan communities through acts of violence, drug trafficking, human smuggling, and organized crime; and

Whereas, The 287(g) program provides comprehensive federal training, resources, and oversight to help ensure that participating local officers operate within the bounds of the law and uphold constitutional protections while enforcing immigration laws; and

Whereas, The City of Taylor's police department has demonstrated leadership by signing a 287(g) Task Force Model agreement, setting a model for effective collaboration with ICE and reaffirming the critical role local governments can play in upholding federal immigration law; and

Whereas, Encouraging broader participation in the 287(g) program will send a clear message that Michigan supports the rule of law, stands with law-abiding citizens, and will not tolerate sanctuary policies or the obstruction of federal immigration enforcement; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives, That we encourage all Michigan county sheriffs, police departments, and other local law enforcement agencies to explore and pursue entry into 287(g) agreements with U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the Chief Executive Officer and Executive Director of the Michigan Sheriffs' Association, the President of the Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police, the Director of U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement, and the Secretary of the U.S. Department of Homeland Security.

The resolution was referred to Committee on Government Operations.

Reps. Andrews, Breen, Fitzgerald, Fox, Paiz, Rheingans and Weiss offered the following resolution:

House Resolution No. 129.

A resolution to declare June 9-15, 2025, as Dad Week in the state of Michigan.

Whereas, Fathers play a vital and irreplaceable role in the development and wellbeing of children, families, and communities across Michigan, contributing to stability, support, and success in every aspect of life; and

Whereas, Studies show that children with actively engaged fathers are more likely to thrive academically, socially, and emotionally, and are less likely to face challenges such as poverty, incarceration, and poor health outcomes; and

Whereas, The Present Pillars Foundation, headquartered in Benton Harbor and serving communities across southwest Michigan, has become a leading advocate for responsible fatherhood, men's wellness, and the strengthening of families through innovative programs, mentorship, and public outreach; and

Whereas, Founded by fathers and led by residents committed to breaking cycles and building up men and families, Present Pillars launched Dad Week to elevate the role of fathers and father figures through a weeklong celebration of education, wellness, and community engagement; and

Whereas, Dad Week includes events such as service projects, fatherhood workshops, legal and employment resources, and community celebrations that honor the contributions of local dads; and

Whereas, By declaring June 9-15 as Dad Week in the state of Michigan, we recognize the essential role fathers play, and encourage communities statewide to support and uplift the men who show up every day for their families; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives, That the members of this legislative body declare June 9-15, 2025, as Dad Week in the state of Michigan. We commend fathers everywhere for their dedication to empowering and strengthening families in the state of Michigan and beyond.
