

THE CODE OF CRIMINAL PROCEDURE (EXCERPT)
Act 175 of 1927

767.56 Indictment; allegation of prior conviction.

Sec. 56. Whenever it is necessary to allege a prior conviction of the accused in an indictment, it is sufficient to allege that the accused was at a certain stated time, in a certain stated court, convicted of a certain stated offense, giving the name of the offense, if it have one, or stating the substantial elements thereof.

History: 1927, Act 175, Eff. Sept. 5, 1927;—CL 1929, 17270;—CL 1948, 767.56.